

OLYMPIC YOUTH DEVELOPMENT CENTRE

PRESENTATION

BACKGROUND

OYDC is a partnership between the Government of the Republic of Zambia, the International Olympic Committee (IOC), and the National Olympic Committee of Zambia (NOCZ) in their aim to create a multi-purpose facility to provide positive sport and life style opportunities for athletes, coaches, administrators and underserved women, youth and children, through high quality facilities, training, competitions, education, health and support services, to promote the principles and values of Olympism.

The Centre was opened on 11 May 2010 by the Zambian President Rupiah Banda and the IOC President Jacques Rogge

VISION

To be the leading and most inspiring sport institution for athlete and sport leadership development in the region

MISSION

To provide positive sport and lifestyle opportunities for athletes, coaches, sports administrators and underserved women, youth and children, through high quality facilities for community development and high performance sport training and competitions, and to promote the principles and values of Olympism

Objectives
